DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609.04(a) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because legal phraseology, i.e., "comprising", "consists of" and "comprises", should be avoided in the abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 5, lines 7-8 should be replaced by language indicative of Figures 2A, 2B, and 2C, which appear in the drawings of the application, but are not referred to in the brief description of the drawings.

Appropriate correction is required.

4. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: The specification should be amended to include the following phrase, which appears in the claims, but is not found within the specification, as originally filed, "each up-flow leg is non-concentric with respect to the down-flow leg".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muller.

Muller (Figs. 1, 9A-9C, 10A, and 10B; col. 5, lines 20-22; col. 9, lines 31-55) disclose several alternative embodiments of a liquid-vapor distribution device including an elongated down-flow leg that is flanked by one or more non-concentrically arranged up-flow legs, the flow transition area between the up-flow zones and the down-flow zones having in at least one embodiment, an impingement plate bluff body (7) for facilitating smooth multi-phase flow through the transition zone and subsequently through the plate perforation (12,12'') via the down-flow leg (11,11''). It would have been obvious for an artisan at the time of the invention, to provide the embodiments of the reference, which include polygonal, non-concentric up-flow legs adjacent to the polygonal down-flow leg, with an impingement plate bluff body within the transition zone of the device, in view of the teaching within the same reference that such a structure is utilized within non-polygonal vapor lift tubes to facilitate smooth multi-phase flow through the device. Furthermore, it would have been obvious for an artisan at the time of the invention, to modify the shape or specific placement of the bluff body element as taught by Muller within the transition zone, so as to facilitate the smoothest possible flow through the device, such shape or placement modifications rendering obvious the device as recited by instant claims 2-4. It is noted that the instant application has not provided any specific language as to the advantages gleaned from specific shapes or placement of the bluff bodies within the claimed device.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
